GIANTS BEGINNING TO SHOW

Expert Fullerton Also Declares THE LEADING HITTERS That the Reds Are Going Beyond Their Speed and Are Due for a Slump.

By Hugh S. Fullerton.

OPE is an odd thing. Before the ng staffs that stood out above all thers those of the Chicago Cube, Sieter. Brooklyn and Cleveland. The Red firmed high, but it was a short-handed the New York Giants figured weak and are commencing to show that weakness. The Chicago White Hox seemed shorthanded, and the only vital weakness of the team now is that the bulk of the work must fall upon two men.

Cincinnati seemed not only weak on the slab but also shorthanded. Now Cincinnati's pitching staff, while not the best, is working more consistently thanany other. The Cubs are going along with only Yaughan of their great stars in working order, and he not up to his form of last year. Alexander has shown only flashes of form thus far. Tyler's arm is so bad that he is resting at home. Carter has the minors, by the way, seem to the should be s that he is resting at home. Carter has them and is slowly regaining

The Reds are going above their speed. Oddly enough Eller has won just the percentage of games the dope rigured him to win. The great showing of Ring and Reather and the second string men, together with the unexpectedly strong swatting of half agreement and proceed to draft the games are games took what they wanted without regard to the rights or the interests of the minor clubs as we in a few cases. Incidentally those cases usually arose over two major clubs disputing title to a minor player. Now the minors charge that the majors intend to violate their verbal agreement and proceed to draft may be a superior of the rights or the interests of the minor clubs as we in a few cases. MoGraw's toam seems to be losing its golden opportunity. It should have made a stand on the home grounds and repelled the Western teams as fast as they came, but the villal pitching weakness is commencing to show. McGraw is covering it

In other words, Robby appears to be trying to make his team play the old Baltimore game, the game which MoGraw has used with varying suc-cess with the Giants. From the fact that the Giants and Brooklyn sad their league in hitting and total bases and still are not winning con-sistently, it looks as if the old slug-ging system and the rush attack wall

The feudal party of the first part is against the Giants and, by it, they the Cincinnati Reds and, of course, the Brooklyn's pitching staff this spring seemed close to the Cubs in strength. It opened the season as if to verify the dope and then, without reason apparently, the entire pitching staff blow up at once. It blow up in the face of the fact that the Dodgers were hitting above their proper gait and scoring more runs than any club in the league excepting the Giants. The team has shown extremely weak in waiting, has drawn very few bases other folks like to pick on the big town.

After losing two straight to the Browns, the downtrodden Yankees turned and won a game by a sore of 4 to 3 in an exciting finish. The New Yorkers hit the ball hard, but the Browns' infield "cracked" at a critical moment in the seventh inning and threw firee big errors into the fray, which with timely hits by Frank Baker and Truck Hannah gave the Yanks three runs and the game. Alish Russell pitched for the Yanks. He was hit hard in spots, George Sisler getting a home run drive and a triple and Kenreth Williams collecting a three-bagger.
